COLOURFUL CORAL

Doodads and doodahs purple by Madeleine Child and Philip Jarvis

Madeleine and Philip studied ceramics in London and now live and work in Dunedin. Since their first child was born they have regularly worked together to create collaborative artworks.

They make lively, playful and quirky hand-built ceramic sculptures. This sculpture looks like a colourful coral reef. It is made from clay and recycled materials from the kitchen. Which materials can you see?

- ☐ clay
- ☐ rubber bands
- ☐ sponge
- ☐ wire wool

Madeleine Child and Philip Jarvis, Doodads and doodahs purple, 2009, ceramic, sponge, rubber, foam, glass, wire and paint 390 x 550 x 380 mm. Purchased 2010.
